NOTES OF

autumn

TAKE A DRINK WHEN...

- Anyone is wearing flannel
- Leo talks about his writer's block, or Ellie talks about how she doesn't make music anymore
- You spot an empty cup that's supposed to be full
- Ellie and Leo can't figure something out about each other's houses
- There's a conflict between either of the potential couples
- Leo or Ellie participates in a stereotypical fall activity
- You see sheet music
- You see a gourd or pumpkin
- Someone mentions a pumpkin spice latte
- The scene switches between Leo & Ellie's stories

FINISH YOUR DRINK IF...

- Leo and Ellie permanently switch hometowns
- Leo finishes writing a book AND Ellie leaves her job at the hotel and returns to music
